

World GIS Day Wednesday 18th November 2015 at GAP

DISCOVERING THE WORLD THROUGH GIS

go.qub.ac.uk/gismaps

Web My Map!

As part of World Geographical Information Systems Day 2015 members of the GIS Research and Teaching Unit at GAP are hosting a free Online Web Mapping workshop at the School of GAP (Elmwood Building) on Wednesday 18th of November 2-5pm. Based in the GIS Lab the workshop will introduce the science and technology of web mapping, visualising spatial data, analysing spatial patterns and map sharing online, as a published 'Web GIS'.

Geographical Information Systems (GIS)

No previous GIS theory or software experience will be required and the workshop will be based around 'Cloud' GIS resources (ArcGIS.com). Participants are encouraged to bring their own data (BYOD) as an opportunity will be given to discuss individual GI research interests at the workshop.

Spaces are limited and will be allocated on a first come first served basis. To reserve a place or receive additional information please contact Conor Graham or Lorraine Barry

conor.graham@qub.ac.uk / l.barry@qub.ac.uk

The School of Geography, Archaeology & Palaeoecology.

GISday